I wish he would directly talk about grace. Your heart is what you're all .

Growing up in the church, Christianity was so complicated. Aug 30, Paul arate

I understand his point that we are made complete through God's grace and what Christ did for us. It seems like with each chapter, he's saying what people believe about God, and then merely negating them without a much deeper approach.

They misrepresented His personality. Refresh and try. Unfortunately when you balance this "truth" to the "truth" of the Bible, you really can't escape the fact that this is a conditional relationship and if you walk away from it citing abuse, absence of affection or complete and total alienation you are beyond screwed. Since God is love, and love is defined as patient, kind, and so on, he explains what these terms mean.
